

Layouts & Maps

Burning Man 2023 Layout

The layout has remained relatively unchanged in the last few years, and follows a pretty obvious convention, similar to the old dial clocks. As the city grows, the radial streets use more letters every year. This year the streets go from A to K, and every year the words used for the letters change based on that year's theme (click here for this year's names which are Animal names).

This year the words are: Afanc, Bigfoot, Chupacabra, Dingbat, Encantado (that's where we are!), Frogbat, Grootslang, Hodag, Igopogo, Jackalope, Kraken.

image.png

NYD Camp Layout

Location & Lot Information

This year our camp is approximately located at 8:30 and Encantado. I say approximately because the actual location is officially assigned upon arrival.

Here are some basic facts about the size of the camp (remember it's a radial lot, so the dimensions are approximate):

Approximate frontage length: 150ft	This is the interactive side of our camp and we should consider it our front yard that faces the street.
Approximate depth: 250ft	This is how far back into the block we go.
Corner camp: Yes	This means our camp has access to two or more frontages that can be used for interactive areas

Proposed Layout

Actual layout (satellite image)

Guidance on Camp Layouts

BMORG Publishes a useful guide on camp layouts with best practices and things to avoid:

<https://burningman.org/event/participate/camps/placement-process/camp-layouts/>

MOOP Map 2022 Edition

To get an idea of the scale of Black Rock City, here's the MOOP Map from 2022:

Poop Map

Unofficial BRC Map

A wonderful group of people have gifted this facility for tracking camps on a live, Google Maps style map.

Here's the one for 2022 from their archive (and they have previous years as well if you are curious!):

<https://www.unofficialbrcmap.com/archives/2022>

---

Revision #10

Created 25 July 2023 22:38:10 by Friendly Ghost

Updated 21 April 2024 01:44:31 by Friendly Ghost